

In May, Alastair Handforth, a North Irish teacher visited our school. This is part of a Comenius project in which our school is participating. He told us about himself, his school, his pupils and the way they work there.

He taught some children to play cricket, a typical English game and put some children in contact with his own pupils in order they can write each other some letters.

We interchanged experiences and ideas and he was surprised on how our pupils are learning English since they arrive to school. It has been great to meet a foreign teacher from an English speaking country.

OUR FAMILY QUILTS

Children of second course of Primary Education have done a cultural Project with Mitzi. This deals with a typical quilt from United States which students have made and decorated with daily routines and familiar aspects.

In these last days of the academic year, in the fourth grade, we've been talking about "holidays", the plans students have for summer and their favourite places to have fun. They have completed it with some pictures.
